Family Perspective: Child Care in Massachusetts

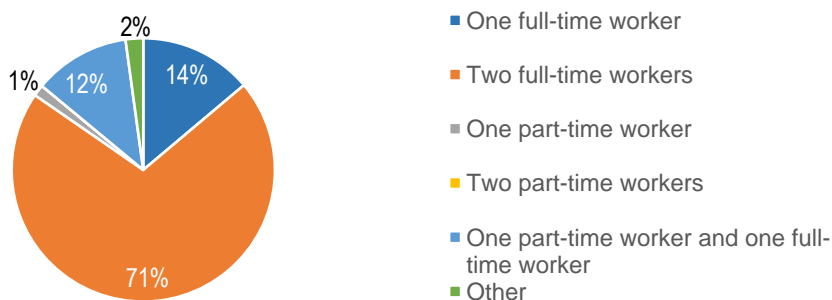

This survey was designed for the parents of young children (age birth through five) in Massachusetts. The survey has 2,363 total responses to date and the participants are from various regions across the Commonwealth (see below). Their experiences during the Coronavirus pandemic and perspectives on reopening will help advocates and government officials plan for the future.

Region: (2,363 responses)

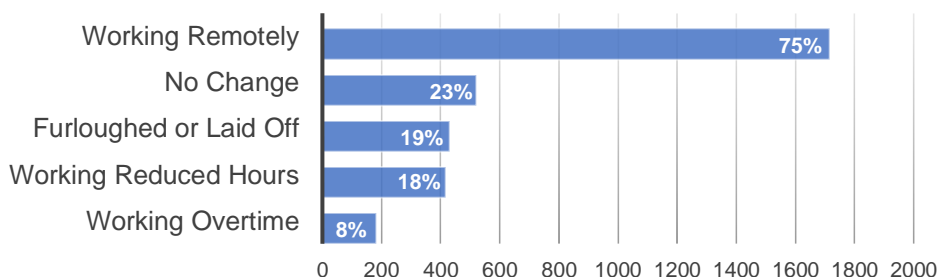

Employment Status

What was the employment status of the adult member(s) in your household prior to the Coronavirus pandemic? (2,359 responses)

What is the current work status of the adult member(s) in your household? (check any that apply) (2,359 responses)

“It is proving difficult, draining, and detrimental to the mental well-being for working parents to juggle full time workloads and round-the-clock childcare. While many parents are non-essential, they are still working remotely but without the option of childcare. Needless to say, one person cannot perform two full-time jobs simultaneously. Parents need support in the form of teaching resources but also mental health and emotional support.” Natick, MA

“I am also worried about my own personal burnout during this crisis. I have been focusing less and less on my job as the weeks go on, and I feel that by the time daycare opens I will be so exhausted and burnt out that I won't be able to focus on my career and that my career will suffer. I am worried about the lasting impacts this will have my child, our family, my marriage and my career.”

Hudson, MA

“At this point in time, I simply don't have the confidence that my spouse and I will remain employed throughout the summer.”

“Our Emergency Child Care Program is amazing! The staff are so awesome with my children. They are excited to see my kids each morning and vice versa. They have taken extra measures to ensure everyone remains safe. The teachers are devastated the center is closed until the end of June. That is how much they love our children. But they understand and they want everyone to stay healthy! We love every teacher! We don't know what we would do without these essential childcare providers!!!”

Franklin, MA

“It's important to us that our kids are safe and happy and have relatively predictable childcare environments with which we're very familiar.”

Florence, MA

“I don't feel comfortable bringing my child to an emergency center based on health and safety concerns, and due to the lack of relationship with teachers.”

Emergency Child Care Programs

Are you using an Emergency Child Care Program (ECCP) established by the Department of Early Education and Care? (972 responses)

We then asked parents who are using the Emergency Child Care Program if it was meeting their needs. Due to the small sample size (44 responses) we elected to omit the results from this summary.

Why aren't you using an Emergency Child Care Program established by MA (choose all that apply)? (928 responses)

"If this continues long term, we may not be able to sustain childcare on a daily basis the way we are." Western MA

"Because I have the ability to work remotely, I feel like I should do my part to avoid using up a space in these programs that could be used by someone who needs it more urgently." Medford, MA

"My workplace is currently a "hot spot" for COVID19. I am a single parent and have no other options for my children to go other than childcare. If I bring home the virus, I would risk exposing not only my own children but the other children in the childcare facility." Ayer, MA

"I would be hesitant to return to childcare if the virus is still widespread, because I don't want to risk my child becoming infected through school and then possibly transmitting that infection. If the virus is resolved (or if there is widespread testing), I would feel more comfortable returning to childcare." Western MA
